

Men's Beauty Center

The center consists of a specific number of employees, divided into two sections:

- The first section: employees who carry out customer requests.
- The second section: managers who handle customer billing and manage customer roles.

Customers can choose the employee who will execute their requests. Customer information, such as name and phone number, is recorded according to their preference. Each employee has a record of the work they have completed during the day.

Employees can withdraw a portion of their expenses during the day, provided it does not exceed their daily salary. Expenses are deducted from their salary at the end of the day. The shop owner controls the salaries of employees and managers, as well as the prices of the shop's services.

Each employee has a daily attendance record. If an employee is late for work, a financial penalty is imposed by the shop owner. The manager is responsible for opening the shop at the beginning of the day, after which the workday begins. The shop owner has the right to hire employees and managers.

The manager or store owner is responsible for paying employees' wages at the end of the day. At the end of each month, the work of each employee is evaluated for the entire month, and a specific profit percentage is calculated by the shop owner. There is a special type of customer, the groom, who is given a reservation based on the date of his wedding. A deposit is taken to confirm the reservation, and the remaining amount is paid on the wedding day. The price list is set by the shop owner.
